

Blog Editorial

Disability studies be it as academicians, researchers and practitioners or even as student we need to continuously be learner

Voiceabilty looks forwards to provide a platform to bring together people from all walks of life and to gain from the experts in the related field.

Through this platform you'll be enlightened about the different aspects of disability including contextualizing Disability policies legislation and Acts related to special education .Sustainability, input –process outcome context framework for inclusive education, multi sensory approach multi discipline teams adaptations ,differential and effective instruction for regular classrooms ,historical perspective definitions and classification ,incidences and prevalence screening ,identifications and diagnosis ,characteristics ,associated disorder , causes and prevention intervention and educational programmes and strategies ,assertive technology and devices and other issues and concerns

Kabir Siddiqui
Managing Editor